New York Central-West Side Improvement plans until November was adopted last night at a meeting of the Woman's League for the Protection of Riverside Park, held in the home of Amelia Bingham, at 103 Riverside Drive. It was also decided to urge the appointment of experts to examine the titles to the land affected by the plans, considerable land affected by the plans, considerable doubt having developed as to whether the city does not own some of the land the railroad is credited with owning. Miss Bingham said the carrying out of the improvement scheme might cause a general exodus of residents from the Drive. She, for one, she declared, did not want to listen to steam shovels and drills at work in front of her home for the next ten years.

Other speakers who opposed the plan were Mrs. N. Archibald Shaw, Mrs. Francis Yawger, Mrs. Charles A. Bryan, president of the league; R. Rosenbluth, representing the Institute for Public Service: Vice-President Brown of the American Scenic and Historic Observance Society; Lucile Pugh and Assemblyman Vincest Gilroy.
